Project and Portfolio Management Tools

- OCIO is reviewing the Project and Portfolio Management Tools currently in use at NIH and their associated costs, and need your help in understanding the current environment.
 - If your organization or group currently uses tools in either of these categories, we'd be interested in the following information:
 - Name of portfolio or project-level tools in by your group/organization
 - Number of users
 - Associated costs (estimates on purchase cost and/or annual costs)
 - General comments on how the tools are used, the value you find, and the ease of use
 - Information will be used to determine if there are areas of possible collaborations and/or interest in an enterprise-wide tool for project and portfolio management
 - Send comments/responses to jane.small@nih.gov and maryellen.omeara@nih.gov
